COMMISSION, GHAZIABAD (U.P.)

CONSUMER COMPLAINT NO. _____ OF 2026

(Complaint under Section 35 of the Consumer Protection Act, 2019)

IN THE MATTER OF:

Mr. Vikas Gandhi

S/o Shri Surendra Gandhi, aged about 53 years,

R/o D-20, 1st Floor, Dayanand Nagar,

Ghaziabad, Uttar Pradesh – 201001

...OPPOSITE PARTY

COMPLAINT UNDER SECTION 35 OF THE CONSUMER PROTECTION ACT, 2019 FOR ARBITRARY REPUDIATION OF A MEDICALLY NECESSARY
HEALTH CLAIM, DEFICIENCY IN SERVICE AND UNFAIR TRADE PRACTICE

MOST RESPECTFULLY SHOWETH:

The present complaint arises out of the repudiation of a fully documented hospitalization claim of ₹37,358/- despite uncontroverted medical evidence — the hospital record of acute urinary obstruction with active infection, an urgent surgery performed by a super-specialist Urologist, a biopsy confirming a premalignant disease, and the treating specialist's written certification — none of which the Opposite Party has ever examined, answered or rebutted. Every material assertion in this complaint is supported by a document annexed hereto.

CHAPTER I — PARTIES

1. The Complainant is a "consumer" within the meaning of Section 2(7) of the Consumer Protection Act, 2019, having purchased a health insurance policy from the Opposite Party for consideration for personal/family use.
2. The Opposite Party is a general insurance company registered with IRDAI (Reg. No. 157), rendering insurance services for consideration.

CHAPTER II — JURISDICTION AND LIMITATION

3. Territorial: The Complainant resides at Ghaziabad and the entire hospitalization and treatment took place at RS Maitri Health Care, J-278, Patel Nagar 1st, Ghaziabad. This Hon'ble Commission has territorial jurisdiction under Section 34(2)(d) of the Act.
4. Pecuniary: The claim and compensation sought are well within the pecuniary limits of the District Commission.
5. Limitation: The claim was repudiated on 26.06.2025; the Complainant thereafter pursued the insurer's grievance mechanism and the Insurance Ombudsman, whose Award was pronounced on 02.07.2026. The complaint is within two years of the cause of action (Section 69). The Ombudsman's own forwarding letter dated 02.07.2026 (Annex-XIII-A) records, verbatim:

"In the eventuality of your disagreeing with the enclosed award, you may, move a fresh application at any other forum/court that may be considered by you as appropriate."

CHAPTER III — CHRONOLOGY OF EVENTS

Date	Event	Supporting Document
04.11.2024	Proposal accepted after underwriting; ACKO Personal Health Policy (Standard Plan, Family Floater) No. ASHP202400001607 issued; Sum Insured ₹10,00,000; premium ₹31,065 p.a.; policy period 04.11.2024–03.11.2025	Annexure C-1 (Policy Schedule); Annexure C-2 (Proposal Form)
Nov 2024 – Jun 2025	All premium instalments paid on time; policy continuously in	Annexure C-3 (payment records)

	force without break
June 2025	Complainant develops acute urinary complaints — poor flow of urine with infection	Annexure C-4 (Discharge Summary)
20.06.2025	Admitted to RS Maitri Health Care, Ghaziabad at 06:58 hrs; Circumcision + Meatoplasty performed the same day under spinal anaesthesia by Dr. Vaibhav Saxena, M.Ch. (Urology); IV fluids and IV antibiotics administered; excised tissue sent for histopathology	Annexure C-4
21.06.2025	Discharged in stable condition; total hospital expenses ₹37,358/-	Annexure C-4; Annexure C-5 (Bills)
21/24.06.2025	Reimbursement Claim No. 25062100350/1 lodged with all documents; detailed representation sent	Annexure C-6
25.06.2025	Claim rejected by "Update on Your Claim" email quoting the genitourinary entry and asserting — five days before the histopathology report existed — that the procedure "is not related to a malignancy"; GRO separately rejects the representation in identical mechanical terms	Annexure C-7
26.06.2025	Claim repudiated by email citing only the general "Specific Illnesses" waiting-period clause, without naming any listed condition and without dealing with the exception contained in it	Annexure C-8
30.06.2025	Histopathology Report (Max Lab, No. V-6630/25): gross "cauliflower like lesion 3.5 × 3 × 0.8 cm"; Impression: "Consistent with Lichen sclerosus (balanitis xerotica obliterans)"	Annexure C-9

Date	Event	Supporting Document
Jul–Aug 2025	Appeals and grievances to the Opposite Party — all rejected without dealing with the medical evidence	Annexure C-10 (colly.)
07.08.2025	Complaint filed before Insurance Ombudsman, Noida (NOI-H-056-2526-0961)	Annexure C-11
24.06.2026	Personal hearing before the Ombudsman	Annexure C-11
02.07.2026	Ombudsman Award IO/NOI/A/HI/0061/2026-2027: complaint dismissed, but medical necessity held undisputed and Permanent Exclusion held inapplicable ; liberty to approach any other forum	Annexure C-11; Annex-XIII-A letter
12.07.2026	Treating Urologist issues Medical Certificate: surgery "was must" due to inability to pass urine and UTI; biopsy confirmed BXO, "a pre-malignant condition"; risk of life-threatening infection and penile cancer if not treated	Annexure C-12
14.07.2026	Grievance registered on the National Consumer Helpline (INGRAM) portal against the repudiation — Grievance No. 9719631 (status: in process)	Annexure C-10 (colly.)
15.07.2026	Opposite Party's Grievance Redressal Officer replies by email, reiterating verbatim the very “waiting period” ground of 26.06.2025 — once again without identifying any listed condition in the Schedule, and without adverting to the biopsy report, the treating doctor's certificate dated 12.07.2026, or	Annexure C-10 (colly.)

	the Ombudsman's findings in paras 13–14 of the Award

CHAPTER IV — THE MEDICAL FACTS: AN ACUTE ILLNESS AND A MEDICALLY UNAVOIDABLE SURGERY

6. In June 2025 — more than seven months into the policy — the Complainant developed acute obstruction to the passage of urine. The Discharge Summary of RS Maitri Health Care (Annexure C-4) records, verbatim:

Diagnosis: "TIGHT PHIMOSIS WITH BALANITIS WITH MEATAL STENOSIS"

Brief history of presenting illness: "POOR FLOW OF URINE"

Procedure: "CIRCUMCISION + MEATOPLASTY DONE UNDER SA ON 20/06/2025"

Course during hospitalization: "IV FLUIDS AND IV ANTIBIOTICS"

7. These four entries of the hospital's own contemporaneous record establish, without any need for argument: (i) acute urinary obstruction; (ii) active infection — balanitis with urinary tract infection (UTI), treated with intravenous antibiotics, as also certified by the treating Urologist (Annexure C-12); (iii) surgery performed on the very day of admission, which is possible only where surgery is medically unavoidable; and (iv) treatment by a qualified surgical team under anaesthesia in a hospital setting.

8. The excised preputial tissue was sent for histopathological examination — a step which was clinically indicated, because the Histopathology Report of Max Lab dated 30.06.2025, No. V-6630/25 (Annexure C-9), records in its Gross Description, verbatim:

"Externally shows cauliflower like lesion measures 3.5 x 3 x 0.8 cm."

A "cauliflower-like" growth is a morphology that any competent surgeon is duty-bound to have examined for malignancy.

9. The Report's Impression reads, verbatim:

"Consistent with Lichen sclerosus (balanitis xerotica obliterans)."

The biopsy thus confirmed BXO (Balanitis Xerotica Obliterans / Lichen Sclerosus) — a recognised premalignant condition of the penis, as certified by the treating specialist (Chapter V below) and as recorded in standard medical literature (Annexure C-13).

10. The medical sequence is therefore complete and entirely documentary: acute urinary obstruction → recorded poor urinary flow → active infection requiring IV antibiotics → medically unavoidable urgent surgery → clinically indicated biopsy → biopsy-confirmed BXO. Not one link in this chain rests on the Complainant's say-so; every link is a hospital or laboratory record.

10-A. Plain meaning of the medical terms (for ready reference of this Hon'ble Commission). The conditions recorded in the Complainant's own hospital and laboratory documents are, in ordinary language, the following: (a) Phimosis is an abnormal tightening of the foreskin which prevents its normal retraction and, in its severe form, obstructs the free passage of urine; (b) Balanitis is an active inflammation and infection of the glans and foreskin; (c) Meatal stenosis is a narrowing of the urinary opening which further obstructs the flow of urine; and (d) Balanitis Xerotica Obliterans (BXO), also called genital Lichen Sclerosus, is a chronic scarring disease of the foreskin that is medically recognised as a pre-malignant (pre-cancerous) condition — that is, a condition carrying a known risk of progressing to cancer of the penis if it is not treated. None of these is a cosmetic complaint; each is an organic disease recorded contemporaneously by the treating hospital, and together they explain why urgent surgery was undertaken on the very day of admission.

CHAPTER V — OPINION OF THE TREATING SUPER-SPECIALIST

11. The treating surgeon and certifying specialist is Dr. Vaibhav Saxena, M.S. (BHU), M.Ch. Urology (AIIMS, New Delhi), U.P. Medical Council Reg. No. 47425, who, as per his professional letterhead and registration stamp, is:

- Senior Director – Urology, Uro-Oncology (Cancer), Robotic Surgery and Renal Transplant, Yashoda Super Speciality Hospital, Kaushambi;
- Consultant Urologist, RS Maitri Health Care, J-278, Patel Nagar 1st, Ghaziabad; and
- the treating surgeon himself, who operated upon the Complainant and followed up the histopathology.

12. This is not the opinion of an ordinary physician rendered on paper review. It is the certification of a super-specialist in urological cancer who personally examined, operated upon and followed up the patient. His Medical Certificate dated 12.07.2026 (Annexure C-12), issued "To Whom It May Concern", certifies verbatim:

"Mr. Vikas Gandhi, 54 yrs Male, R/o D-20, Dayanand Nagar, Ghaziabad was suffering from Phimosis with Balanitis with meatal stenosis & UTI. His surgery was must in view of unable to pass urine & UTI. His Preputial Biopsy came out to be (BXO) which is a pre-malignant condition & not any elective or cosmetic surgery. There is life threatening infection risk & risk of penile cancer if not treated..."

The certificate thus establishes, in the treating specialist's own hand, that:

- (a) the patient suffered from phimosis with balanitis, meatal stenosis and UTI;
- (b) the surgery "was must" — medically unavoidable — in view of inability to pass urine and UTI;
- (c) the preputial biopsy confirmed BXO, "a pre-malignant condition";
- (d) the surgery was not elective or cosmetic; and
- (e) without treatment there was a risk of life-threatening infection and of penile cancer.

13. It is respectfully submitted that the opinion of the treating super-specialist carries the highest evidentiary value in a medical-claim dispute. The Opposite Party has never produced — at the claim stage, the grievance stage, or before the Ombudsman — any contrary opinion of any doctor whatsoever, let alone of an equally qualified uro-oncologist. An insurer cannot arbitrarily discard the unrebutted opinion of the treating specialist on the basis of a desk assessment by unnamed, unqualified claim processors.

13-A. The evidentiary position is entirely one-sided. On one side stands the written, reasoned certificate of the very super-specialist who admitted, operated upon and personally followed up the Complainant, corroborated by the contemporaneous Discharge Summary (Annexure C-4), the laboratory Histopathology Report (Annexure C-9) and standard medical literature (Annexure C-13). On the other side there is nothing at all: the Opposite Party has not, at any stage — claim, grievance, or before the Ombudsman — placed on record the opinion of any doctor, any second medical opinion, any reference to a Medical Board, or any reasoned medical analysis of the biopsy. In a medical-claim dispute the unrebutted opinion of the treating specialist ordinarily carries the highest evidentiary value, and an insurer that seeks to displace it carries the burden of producing contrary medical material of at least equal authority. That burden has not merely gone undischarged; it has not even been attempted.

CHAPTER VI — THE PROPOSAL FORM: NO SUPPRESSION, NO PRE-EXISTING DISEASE

14. The Proposal Form (Annexure C-2) — the Opposite Party's own document, on the basis of which it underwrote and accepted the risk — records, verbatim:

"Has anyone in this plan been diagnosed with a medical condition?" — "No medical conditions"

"Did anyone in this plan take any prescribed medicines in the past week?" — "No"

"Has anyone in this plan been advised to undergo or has ever undergone hospitalisation for any illness / surgery?" — "no"

"Does anyone in this plan have any other ongoing health issues or symptoms for which you are planning a doctor visit?" — "No"

"PED declared" — "Obesity"

15. Thus: the only condition declared was obesity; there was no previous medical condition, no ongoing symptom, no previous surgery and no previous hospitalization. The Opposite Party accepted this proposal after underwriting and issued the policy recording, in its own Schedule (Annexure C-1), "Permanent disease exclusion: No exclusion."

16. It is of decisive significance that the Opposite Party has never alleged suppression of material facts, has never invoked the Pre-Existing Disease clause, and has never questioned the genuineness of the illness or of the treatment. Any suggestion that the disease existed prior to policy inception therefore stands completely demolished by the insurer's own record and its own conduct.

16-A. Indeed, the Opposite Party has itself renewed the policy as Policy No. ASHP202400001607R1 for the period 04.11.2025–03.11.2026 (Sum Insured ₹11,00,000 including inflation-protection bonus; premium ₹36,656.86 — Annexure C-1 colly.). The renewal document records "First policy inception date: 04/11/2024" and "Existing user: Yes". The insurer thus continues to accept the Complainant's premium and treats the cover as continuous from 04.11.2024 — even while refusing the only claim ever made under it.

CHAPTER VII — THE REPUDIATION: MECHANICAL, NON-SPEAKING AND ARBITRARY

17. The entire repudiation email dated 26.06.2025 (Annexure C-8), insofar as it gives reasons, states verbatim:

"After carefully reviewing your claim, we noticed that you have filed a claim for the expenses incurred for treatment of a condition falling under waiting period. Unfortunately, these costs are not a part of your insurance coverage. As a result, we are unable to approve your claim."

followed only by an extract of the general clause 4.1.2 ("Specific Illnesses"). A day earlier, by its "Update on Your Claim" email dated 25.06.2025 (Annexure C-7), the Opposite Party had cited the genitourinary entry and declared that "this procedure is not related to a malignancy" — a medical conclusion pronounced five days before the histopathology report (30.06.2025) even existed, and without reference to any medical opinion whatsoever.

18. This Hon'ble Commission may test the quality of this decision against the record:

Question	Answer on the record
Did ACKO have any medical basis for its assertion of 25.06.2025 that the procedure "is not related to a malignancy"?	No — the histopathology report came into existence only on 30.06.2025, five days after that assertion.
Did ACKO discuss the biopsy report ?	No.
Did ACKO discuss BXO or its premalignant character?	No.
Did ACKO discuss the treating Urologist's opinion ?	No.
Did ACKO analyse the exception contained in the very clause it relied on ("unless necessitated by malignancy")?	No.
Did ACKO obtain any independent medical opinion ?	No.
Did ACKO refer the matter to any Medical Board ?	No.
Did ACKO give any scientific reason why a biopsy-confirmed premalignant condition cannot fall within the exception?	No — not even before the Ombudsman.

19. A repudiation that ignores every piece of material medical evidence, cites a clause without applying it to the facts, and pronounces a medical conclusion ("not related to a malignancy") before the histopathology report even existed, is a mechanical, non-speaking and arbitrary decision. Quoting the clause is not application of mind; applying it to the medical evidence is — and that never happened at any level.

CHAPTER VII-A — THE REPUDIATION FAILED THE DUTY TO PASS A REASONED, SPEAKING DECISION

19-A. It is a settled incident of fair dealing, and of the insurer's obligation of utmost good faith, that the repudiation of a health claim must be a reasoned, "speaking" decision. Such a decision must (i) identify the specific policy condition relied upon; (ii) apply that condition to the specific medical facts of the case; and (iii) deal with the material evidence placed on record by the insured. A rejection that merely reproduces the text of a clause — without naming the listed illness said to attract it, and without engaging with the biopsy, the treating specialist's certificate, or the exception written into the very same clause — is not an application of mind; it is a template.

19-B. The record discloses precisely such a template. The rejection e-mail dated 25.06.2025, the repudiation dated 26.06.2025, and the Grievance Redressal Officer's reply dated 15.07.2026 are, in substance, identical: each recites the general "Specific Illnesses" waiting period; none identifies any listed condition in the Schedule; none refers to the Histopathology Report; none refers to the treating super-specialist's certificate; and none refers to the Ombudsman's findings in paras 13–14 of the Award. A process that repeats the same unreasoned conclusion at three successive stages, in the teeth of the medical record, is itself a distinct and independent deficiency in service, quite apart from the ultimate merits of the claim.

CHAPTER VIII — THE OMBUDSMAN PROCEEDINGS HAVE NARROWED THE CONTROVERSY

20. The Insurance Ombudsman, Noida, by Award No. IO/NOI/A/HI/0061/2026-2027 dated 02.07.2026 (Annexure C-11), dismissed the complaint; however, the Award records findings which bind the controversy and are no longer open to the Opposite Party, verbatim:

Para 13: "It is noted that it is not disputed that the procedure was medically necessary and it was undertaken to address the complaint/problem of poor flow of urine, and it has also been conveyed by complainant that he had serious infection."

Para 14: "In this sense, the procedure involving circumcision + meatoplasty would not be covered under the Permanent Exclusion clause 4.2.3 of the policy as it has been necessitated by illness and forming part of treatment."

21. Consequently, before this Hon'ble Commission the controversy is a narrow one: whether a surgery performed for a biopsy-confirmed premalignant condition falls within the exception "unless necessitated by malignancy". Medical necessity, genuineness of treatment, active policy, and inapplicability of the Permanent Exclusion all stand concluded.

22. The Ombudsman decided the narrow point against the Complainant only because, at the hearing, there was "no post operative medical paper" certifying the malignant potential of BXO. That gap in the record no longer exists: the treating super-specialist's certificate (Annexure C-12) and the supporting medical literature (Annexure C-13) are now on record. The Award, rendered in the summary procedure of the Insurance Ombudsman Rules 2017, does not bar this complaint; its own covering letter grants liberty to approach any other forum.

CHAPTER IX — THE POLICY CLAUSE, READ LAST AND READ FAIRLY, SUPPORTS THE CLAIM

23. The Policy Schedule (Annexure C-1) prescribes for the Complainant, verbatim: "Specific illness — 2 years waiting period on specific illness — NOTE: Refer Annexure for the complete disease list". The only entry of that Annexure relied upon by the Opposite Party reads, verbatim:

"Any Surgery of the genitourinary system unless necessitated by malignancy."

24. The clause is therefore not an absolute exclusion: the insurer itself carved out genitourinary surgery connected with malignancy from the waiting period. On the admitted and documented facts — a grossly suspicious "cauliflower like lesion", a biopsy-confirmed premalignant disease, and the treating uro-oncologist's certification that BXO is "a pre-malignant condition" carrying, if untreated, the "risk of penile cancer" — the present surgery was "necessitated by malignancy" within the true object and purpose of that exception.

25. It is significant what the policy nowhere says. The policy:

- nowhere defines "necessitated by malignancy";
- nowhere excludes premalignant conditions from the exception;
- nowhere requires an existing or established cancer;
- nowhere requires histologically proven invasive carcinoma; and
- nowhere states that preventive oncological surgery is excluded.

The insurer's reading — that the exception operates only after cancer has fully established itself — is therefore not the only possible interpretation, and it is an interpretation that defeats the evident object of the exception: that genuinely oncological genitourinary surgery must not be made to wait out two years, because in such cases delay is medically dangerous. A construction that pays for surgery only after the cancer arrives, but refuses the very surgery that prevents it, frustrates both the clause and the purpose of health insurance.

26. To be precise: the Complainant does not contend that he had established cancer. The contention — certified by the treating uro-oncologist and supported by standard medical literature — is that BXO is a medically recognised premalignant condition carrying a known risk of progression to penile squamous cell carcinoma, and that the surgery was undertaken because of that documented malignant potential, not for any cosmetic or elective reason.

27. In the alternative, and only if necessary: if this Hon'ble Commission finds the expression "necessitated by malignancy" to be genuinely capable of two reasonable meanings — (i) surgery for established malignancy, or (ii) surgery necessitated by a disease process of malignant potential — then, by the settled rule of construction of insurance contracts (contra proferentem), the ambiguity in a clause drafted solely by the insurer must be resolved in favour of the insured. This submission is made strictly in the alternative; the Complainant's primary case rests on the medical evidence itself.

CHAPTER X — DEFICIENCY IN SERVICE AND UNFAIR TRADE PRACTICE

28. Repudiating a genuine, medically necessary, fully documented claim — without examining the biopsy, without obtaining any medical opinion, without applying the exception in the insurer's own clause, and without disclosing even the sub-clause relied upon — constitutes deficiency in service within Section 2(11) and unfair trade practice within Section 2(47) of the Consumer Protection Act, 2019. The arbitrary repudiation has caused the Complainant financial loss, prolonged harassment across three fora over more than a year, and mental agony.

28-A. Particulars of the deficiency. The deficiency in service consists not of a single act but of a continuing course of conduct. In particular, the Opposite Party: (a) repudiated the claim without ever examining the biopsy report; (b) obtained no medical opinion of its own at any stage; (c) failed to apply the express exception “unless necessitated by malignancy” contained in the very clause it invoked; (d) pronounced, on 25.06.2025, a medical conclusion (“not related to a malignancy”) five days before the Histopathology Report of 30.06.2025 even existed; (e) failed to disclose, even before the Ombudsman, the specific sub-clause said to bar the claim; and (f) reiterated the same unreasoned ground across the claim, grievance and post-Award stages, thereby causing the Complainant financial loss and prolonged mental agony across more than a year and three successive fora. Each of these, and certainly their cumulative effect, amounts to deficiency in service under Section 2(11) and to an unfair trade practice under Section 2(47) of the Consumer Protection Act, 2019.

CHAPTER XI — CAUSE OF ACTION

29. The cause of action arose on 20–21.06.2025 (hospitalization), 26.06.2025 (repudiation), 25.06.2025 and thereafter (grievance rejections), and finally on 02.07.2026 (Ombudsman Award with liberty to approach any other forum); it is continuing and arose within the jurisdiction of this Hon'ble Commission.

CHAPTER XI-A — SUMMARY OF THE COMPLAINANT'S CASE ON THE DOCUMENTS

29-A. For convenience, the Complainant's case rests, at every step, on a document already on record and not on any oral assertion: (i) a live, fully paid policy with "no exclusion" recorded in its own Schedule (Annexure C-1) and "no medical conditions" declared in the Proposal Form accepted after underwriting (Annexure C-2); (ii) an acute, documented illness and an emergency, same-day surgery (Annexure C-4); (iii) a biopsy confirming a pre-malignant condition (Annexure C-9); (iv) the written certificate of the treating uro-oncologist that the surgery "was must" and that untreated BXO carried a risk of penile cancer (Annexure C-12), supported by standard medical literature (Annexure C-13); (v) the insurer's own clause carving out surgery "necessitated by malignancy" from the waiting period (Annexure C-1); and (vi) the Ombudsman's own finding that medical necessity is undisputed and the Permanent Exclusion inapplicable (Annexure C-11). Against this record the Opposite Party has placed no medical material whatsoever. The controversy is thus narrow, and the documents resolve it in the Complainant's favour.

CHAPTER XII — PRAYER

30. It is therefore most respectfully prayed that this Hon'ble Commission be pleased to:

(a) direct the Opposite Party to pay ₹37,358/- (Rupees Thirty-Seven Thousand Three Hundred Fifty-Eight only), the admissible claim amount under Claim No. 25062100350/1;

(b) award interest thereon @ 12% p.a. (or such rate as deemed fit) from 26.06.2025 (date of repudiation) till realisation;

(c) award compensation of ₹1,00,000/- (or such sum as deemed fit) for mental agony and harassment caused by the arbitrary repudiation and protracted proceedings;

(d) award litigation costs of ₹25,000/-; and

(e) pass such other and further orders as this Hon'ble Commission may deem fit and proper.

AND FOR THIS ACT OF KINDNESS, THE COMPLAINANT AS IN DUTY
